Dear [Name],

Drought is very much in the news. Here to stay!

Ann and I discussed water conservation and landscaping a few days ago -- short term as well as long term.

So, as Ann asks in her note below:

Are there residents here who would like to begin a discussion on the future of water conservation and landscaping at Menlo Commons?

Please respond with a statement of your desire to contribute to a constructive discussion, along with your availability for times to get together.

I will compile responses from residents who want to participate, share with Ann, and call a town-hall meeting so we can start a dialogue.

Best, Dag

Would you make your letter on water conservation and landscaping as simple as possible? The board has not asked you to take charge. There is no committee, project or funding. More along the lines of "are there residents here who would like to begin a discussion on the future of water conservation and landscaping at Menlo Commons?" Simple, to the point, no firestorm.

Thank you. /Ann
